By Australian Bartender on August 19th, 2015

Fresh from winning the title of Best American Brand Ambassador at this year's Tales of the Cocktail Spirited Awards, Brooke Arthur will be visiting Sydney during Sydney Bar Week this September.

Arthur, who is in town on behalf of Aviation Gin, is the director of on-premise outreach and education for House Spirits Distillery, makers of Aviation and a leader of America's craft distilling resurgence.

Arthur will be at the Indie Tasting to host An Education of American Gin (you can get your tickets to the Indie Tasting here — the seminars are included) and you can also catch her on Sunday 20 September at Earl's Juke Joint, for Bartender Blackjack.

Make sure you get your tickets to the Indie Tasting soon as they're selling fast (they're just $25 if you book online here). It's just one of the great events on during Sydney Bar Week (19 — 22 September) — visit barweek.com.au to find out more.
