April 13, 2015

Clink, drink, and be seen at city's newest and finest. Check out this season's #attachéapproved roster, from a whiskey drinker's haven to a Hamptons hideaway in the heart of the city.

SEAMSTRESS

At last, an Upper East Side cocktail spot worth the trek up north. Our new uptown favorite is a time capsule of sorts, transporting patrons to a bygone era through old Americana-inspired traditions and methods along with décor fit for a true speakeasy. Seamstress, helmed by Josh Mazza and Steve Laycock of The Gilroy and Dead Rabbit vet Pamela Wiznitzer boasts a rotating cocktail menu and bar bites by Will Horowitz of Duck's Eatery. Go for the Wiz Fizz, an intriguing take on a classic with Aviation Gin, cynar, vanilla, lemon, egg white, a bit of cream, and a splash of root beer. We'd say it pairs quite nicely with the kitchen's braised pork shank. Or anything on the menu, for that matter.
